Sky update on Rugby

Sky Network Television Limited (SKT) notes media reports today concerning the South African Rugby Union and SANZAAR.

While the implications of the SARU decisions are yet to be fully discussed with New Zealand Rugby and its SANZAAR partners, Sky continues to have the right to broadcast all premium rugby content, including the likes of the upcoming Bledisloe Cup and The Rugby Championship matches, in New Zealand under the ongoing SANZAAR arrangements.

In addition, Sky enjoys a separate partnership agreement with New Zealand Rugby which gives Sky exclusive rights to any non-SANZAAR matches and competitions played in this country until at least 2025.
